

New sanitary sewers may open for Pre-Coat tomorrow

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

The first customer to use the new sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships, Pre-Coat Metals, could be on the line as early as tomorrow and residential hookups in the Benjamin Subdivision will begin immediately after that, Gene Futch, superintendent of the Madison County Special Sewer District, is predicting.

Futch attended a joint meeting of the county's special sewer and finance committees Thursday evening in Edwardsville and said the sewer committee has given him the green light to begin accepting tap-on applications as soon as the Madison County Board gives its approval to an agreement with Granite City establishing treatment rates.

The county board is to meet in special session at 9 a.m. Tuesday to ratify the agreement, which received the approval of the Granite City Council last Tuesday evening.

Last week was marked by several tense moments as Pre-Coat Metals officials threatened to begin using the sewer line without the county's permission, since the plant had been promised sewer service by December, 1980, and has been unable to even heat the building without an outlet for its boiler wastes.

Roy C. Werner of Pre-Coat sent letters to County Board Chairman Nelson Hauer and Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler notifying them that the company intended to "remove the plug" in its sewer connection Wednesday, Feb. 4, and begin using the line for boiler and sanitary wastes.

That date was changed to Thursday, Feb. 5, by company officials when they learned that two lift stations, numbers three and four, were not operational.

To try to avoid damage to those lift stations, should Pre-Coat carry out its threat to begin using the sewers, Futch and his crew went into a crash program to get the lift stations in operation. A part needed for one was flown in from Alabama and tarpaulins were purchased to cover the pumps and keep them from freezing. If Pre-Coat released water from the boilers into the sewers, ice had to be chipped out of the number three pump, but by Friday, Futch said the pumps were ready to operate.

Pre-Coat backed down on its threat Thursday afternoon, saying that the company intends to follow all pertaining laws, but expects to be using the sewers by sometime this week.

Futch contended the company backed down after State's Attorney Don Weber warned them that they should not begin using the sewers until they have a permit from the county.

However, he noted, his office is ready to issue a permit to Pre-Coat as soon as the county board passes the agreement Tuesday and the company pays a $50 industrial inspection fee for a permit.

The Pre-Coat sewers are already hooked into the new county sanitary sewers, but are blocked by a gate, which could be removed within minutes, a company spokesman said.

Applications then would be accepted for residential hookups in the Benjamin Subdivision and all portions of the sewer district west of St. Thomas Road. Futch said the sewer committee authorized him Thursday afternoon to begin accepting applications as soon as the county board approves the treatment rate agreement Tuesday.

Each residential application must be accompanied by a $25 inspection fee and applicants should bring a tax receipt or anything showing a permanent parcel identification number for the property. That number will be used for billing and for all subsequent contact with the sewer district.

Those who do not have a tax bill or old tax receipt may obtain their permanent parcel identification number from their mortgage company or their township assessor. Processing applications without the permanent parcel identification numbers will slow approval of the tap-on, a spokesman for the sewer district said.

Herzing quits city race during hearing

WILLARD HERZING

Willard Herzing, who had been a candidate for Granite City Third Ward alderman, withdrew his name from the race Thursday evening, rather than continue with a hearing on the validity of his candidate petitions.

Stating, "There's always another day," Herzing notified the Press-Record of his decision Friday morning, saying it was made "with full realization that the hearing process and court action, if necessary, would result in costly attorney fees and expenses."

Alderman Paul Fisk of the Third Ward, who does not face re-election for two more years, filed an objection with the city's election board last week, challenging 57 signatures on Herzing's petition.

Fisk said he was acting as a citizen in filing the objection, but said he felt the action was necessary since the 57 signatures he questioned did not appear on the latest registered voter list from the county clerk. Persons signing candidate petitions are required to be registered voters and residents of the ward, he said.

Herzing told the Press-Record that he was unaware of the requirement that those signing had to be registered voters and did not ask residents if they were registered when he went door-to-door in his ward asking persons to sign petitions.

The city's three-member elections board, headed by Mayor Paul Schuler and having City Clerk Robert W. Stevens and the city's senior alderman, Sam Whitmer as members, began its hearing in the county courthouse at Edwardsville about 4:15 p.m. Thursday.

After settling several procedural questions, Irvin C. Slate Jr., the attorney for Fisk, called Herzing as Slate's first witness. Herzing and his attorney, Burton Bernard, requested a recess to talk and after the recess, Bernard announced that Herzing had agreed to withdraw from this election.

The hearing was closed about 6 p.m. Friday, Herzing said he felt it was better to withdraw than to have numerous persons subpoenaed to the hearing, "which would have gone days and days and cost a lot of money."

He said 30 persons were subpoenaed to appear, eight of which were present for the first session Thursday afternoon. "The people were angry. Some had to leave work and it cost them money. One man said he lost $100 by appearing. I have to think of the people."

"They said they signed petitions for other people. Why couldn't they sign for me? I'll bet every petition in town has people who are not registered," Herzing stated.

In a written announcement that he is withdrawing, Herzing stated, "Residents of the Third Ward were summoned to appear, required to miss work and be embarrassed without fault of Willard Herzing. Rather than cause further unnecessary burdens to these people, this action was taken."

"It was with the full realization that the hearing process and court action, if necessary, would result in costly attorney fees and expenses that the decision was made."

"Willard Herzing has no employment at this time and is on a small pension. Willard Herzing does not have the means to fight city hall," the notice concludes.

Herzing's withdrawal leaves Carl Kittel and Nelson Dunlap in a two-way

Move to crack down on drunk, drugged drivers

Chairman Sam Vadalabene of the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission has announced that the commission has filed House Bill 143, which would substantively revise the present Illinois Laws on driving while under the influence of intoxicants and on implied consent.

The bill's sponsors are representatives McAllister-Schraeder, Neff and Sam W. Wolf, all members of the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission.

Rep. Wolf of Granite City and State Senator Vadalabene of Edwardsville are Democrats serving the 56th Illinois Legislative District.

Rep. Wolf, who was appointed to the commission on Jan. 1, 1981, said a major thrust of this amendatory proposal is to attempt to bring the Illinois Vehicle Code into conformity with the Uniform Vehicle Code (UVC).

The UVC is a specimen set of motor vehicle laws, designed and advanced as a comprehensive guide or standard for state motor vehicle and traffic laws. The President's Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws and Ordinances serves as the custodian of this code.

Sen. Vadalabene stated the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission has just submitted a detailed report to the General Assembly entitled "Marijuana and Driving," indicating a critical need to start a deterrent program as soon as possible to deter "highly antisocial and hazardous misuse of driving privileges."

The only way to identify drugs in the body at the present time is through a blood analysis, and Illinois' present law requires the individual to submit to a breath test only, Vadalabene said.

Lincoln's birthday is holiday for some—area schools closed

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Only in Illinois.

While the federal government and most states recognize George Washington's Birthday as a national holiday, Illinois prefers to recognize the birthday of famous native Abraham Lincoln.

Some governmental agencies, like the municipal government of Granite City, do not recognize either, preferring to "trade" the February holiday for a four-day holiday at Thanksgiving.

Thus, in Illinois, the confusion over which offices are open and which are closed is as much of a tradition as the Fourth of July.

All Illinois schools and state offices, including the driver's license examining station and the Job Service and Bureau of Unemployment Services will be closed

Thursday, while all federal offices will be open and will observe Washington's Birthday, Feb. 16 (even though Washington was born on Feb. 23).

On the other side of the coin (if you prefer Washington, use a quarter; if you prefer Lincoln, use a penny, since their likenesses are on those coins), federal offices will close Feb. 16, while state offices will be open. The post offices will close Feb. 16 and there will be no mail delivery that day.

Banks and savings and loan associations probably should celebrate Benjamin Franklin's birthday, since his likeness is on $100 bills, but have chosen, instead to link with the Federal Reserve Bank in celebrating Washington's Birthday Feb. 16. The financial institutions will be open Thursday.

More funds granted to Nameoki sewer repair

Granite City now qualifies for more than $70,000 from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) for repair of the sewer break in the school yard of Nameoki School, a project now underway. Superintendent of Streets Lionel Portell has notified the Granite City Council.

Portell said recent checks with Victor Koenig, coordinator of Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (ESDA) activities in Granite City indicate that the city qualifies for another 25 percent "front money" to repair the sewer break, bringing the total available to more than $70,000.

Jan. 27, the city council authorized up to $50,000 for Portell's department to repair the sewer break and work began Wednesday.

Repair of the sewer without dewatering the ground was made possible by the recent drought, which

Meheic responds to inquiry

Frank Meheic, Nameoki Township highway commissioner, responded today to Jan. 26 charges of being "burned" by a supplier. He states that during July 1980 he ordered calcium chloride from Universal Laboratories of St. Louis, and after the product was received last month the invoicing came from Universal Research of Dallas, Texas.

After checking by his office, it was discovered that the two firms merged in October 1980, and all invoicing was being handled by the Dallas office.

He states that at the time he purchased the low temperature ice-melting product, he thought the price was in line, after hearing of many other governmental bodies paying as much or more for the product.

His attorney confirmed after his investigation of calling many Southern Illinois cities and townships that Meheic's charges for the calcium chloride were mid-range of the prices paid by others.

Meheic also states that weed killer in question, which was purchased in 1978, was a solution that could be diluted by a 25-to-1 ratio and was not the same material as sold by Crown Chemical at a much lower price. This was confirmed by Earl Evans, who was the employee that sprayed the weeds at that time, Meheic said.

Meheic says that many vicious rumors are being spread about him due to the upcoming election and he would like to clarify them at this time.

1 — He removed a steel bridge just across the Nameoki-Collinsville township line after receiving permission from the East Side Levee District. This was causing a problem in the Arlington Heights area when debris would build up against it and cause water to back up on the residents of Nameoki Township. He sold the steel, which more than paid the cost of removing the bridge, and made a profit for the townships, a spokesman for Meheic said.

2 — He also acquired old military

Price to push for defense buildup

U.S. Rep. Melvin Price (D-3rd Ill.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, last week opened hearings into the U.S. national defense posture and Defense Department authorizations for the 1981-82 fiscal year by calling for swift action on the part of Congress and cooperation with the new administration.

"It is time to produce what we need, to find the best we have and build it."

"It is time to get down to work," Congressman Price said in his opening statement.

Testifying before Rep. Price during the all-day session were Gen. David C. Jones, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the chiefs of staff of all the military services.

The FY 1982 defense authorization bill is expected to total over $115 billion.

"The new administration has signaled an increased commitment to national defense preparedness," Rep. Price said. He was among Congressional leaders called to the White House in late January to discuss national policy with President Ronald Reagan and Vice President George Bush.

"We are prepared to work with the administration to improve our national defense capability," Chairman Price continued, citing his own 31 years on the Armed Services Committee and his service under nine presidents. He has been a member of Congress 37 years.

Rep. Price briefly reviewed the defense situation, touching on several areas where he believes immediate attention is necessary.

He asserted that he was particularly disappointed in the request for naval ships in the proposed 1982 budget.

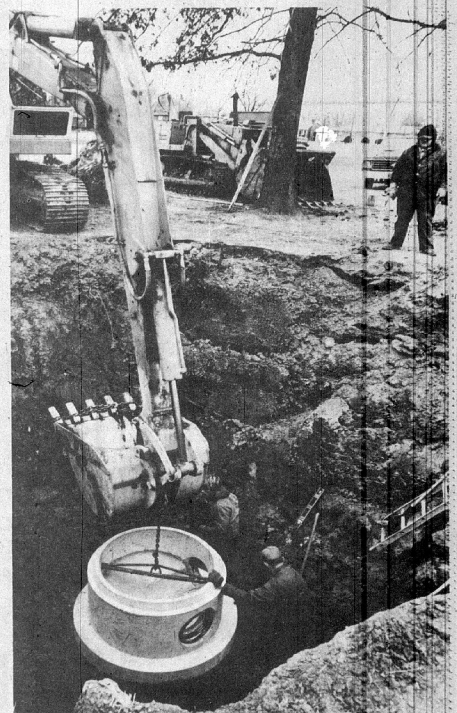

"Our fleets are stretched thin and our sailors are deploying for six months or more throughout the world," he said.

"Our commitment to the Indian Ocean will remain throughout the foreseeable future."

"The lack of strategic sealift capability and the lack of an adequate land base in the Persian Gulf area are two major problems that would confront any attempt that we might make to rapidly deploy large land-based and air-based units to that area."

Rep. Price promised that the Research and Development Subcommittee, the chairmanship of which he will assume during the year, Congress will look to improve airlift and sealift capabilities over the short and long terms.

Additional areas of concern, he said, are price plans for nuclear weapons, improved benefits for personnel, and military readiness.

LONG-AWAITED REPAIRS of the major sanitary sewer break in the school yard behind Nameoki School began last week. City street department workers lower the base of a new manhole into position Thursday afternoon. The city council allocated $50,000 for the repairs which will include the replacement of some of the 1,200 feet of deep underground pipe which connects three manholes.

Health care cost rising

(This is the fifth in a series of 15 articles exploring "The Nation's Health." In this article, Stephen M. Shortell, director of the Center for Health Services Research at the University of Washington, discusses the size and nature of our health care system. Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.)

By STEPHEN M. SHORTELL

The health care system is perhaps the clearest expression of the basic American wish to "have our cake and eat it, too."

Individually we want to receive the benefits of the most advanced technologies — but without sacrificing personalized care.

We want ready access to needed care, but are alarmed about the soaring costs of care.

The fundamental issue is one of choice, at both the individual and social levels.

Important trade-off decisions will have to be made involving access to care; the number, type and continuity of services received; quality; and, especially, cost, which will be critical in shaping our health care system.

Most important, ways must be found through local health system agencies and other organizations to involve American consumers in these decisions.

The health care system performs an extraordinary range of services for millions of people every day. Yet, it is perceived to be in a crisis. Statistics help to tell the story.

— More than 78 percent of the population have a personal physician, and an additional nine percent have a regular source of care, such as a hospital outpatient clinic.

— 76 percent of Americans see a physician at least once a year, with an overall average of four visits per person per year.

— Approximately 14 percent of the population are hospitalized every year.

— More than 250 million days of hospital care are provided to the 29 million patients admitted to hospitals each year.

— Over one million aged,

disabled, and chronically ill are cared for in nursing homes.

— More than 1.5 billion prescriptions are filled every year for outpatient drugs to treat every conceivable kind of condition; and — The population-at-large and groups in special need as well have better access to medical care than ever before.

Most people are generally satisfied with their own physicians and their own care. Yet, despite the vast improvements in availability and access to care, and the enhancement in the quality of care, dissatisfaction with the health care system is widespread.

Why is it that over 60 percent of Americans believe there is a crisis in health care?

A MAJOR INDUSTRY. Part of the problem is the very size of the health care system.

Although most of us do not think of our personal physician and community hospital as parts of a huge industry, they are just that. The health care system is the nation's third largest industry, with a 1979 labor force of over six million people and expenditure of over $212 billion, representing approximately nine percent of the gross national product.

Between 1970 and 1977, employment in the health care industry grew at a rate more than twice that of businesses generally.

Seventy percent of the jobs in the health care industry are held by women, making it the largest single employer of women in the country.

Although physicians are most prominent, it is the nurses who provide the bulk of health care.

In addition to the traditional professions of medicine, nursing, pharmacy and dentistry, there are hundreds of professional and technical specialists who provide care or support services.

As health care grows in size and complexity, the conflict among these groups increases as they compete for economic rewards, prestige and influence.

Channeling this conflict in a position direction to promote better care is a major challenge.

The hospital has become the hub of the health care system. The 7,100 hospitals in the United States employ about three-fourths of all health care personnel and represent almost half of all health care expenditures.

The cost of hospital care and the growing use of technology in the hospital are of particular concern. More than $300 was spent on hospital care for every man, woman and child in the United States in 1977.

This was twice the amount spent on physician care, more than five times that spent for drugs or nursing home care, and more than six times that spent for dental services.

In 1960, only $50 per person was spent for hospital care. The increased cost is due to inflation, the expanding use of technology, the greater complexity of care, and the growing number of patients who receive care.

Nursing home care — like hospital care — is increasingly important. There are now more than one million chronically ill, disabled and elderly patients in the nation's 22,000 nursing homes.

The care ranges from superb to compassionate to deplorable.

Because nursing home care is costly, more and more community based alternatives, such as adult day-care and home health services, are being developed.

COSTS OF CARE.

In the long run, cost may prove the most crucial issue in the struggle to provide health care to all Americans. An increasing portion of our income and our tax dollar goes toward paying physicians, dentists, pharmacists and hospitals.

Our taxes pay for the care of the aged and the poor.

Medicare provides health insurance coverage for individuals 65 and over, for the totally disabled who receive cash assistance from Social Security, and for those with end-stage kidney disease.

Medicaid is a state-administered, federally-supported program for the poor; eligibility and benefits vary widely from state to state.

Although most Americans have some form of hospital insurance coverage, and over half have some outpatient coverage, private health insurance actually pays for only about one-fourth of all care. The government and the individual patient pay for most care.

Third party payment — private insurance companies, Blue Cross-Blue Shield plans, Medicare, or Medicaid — is at the core of the controversy over skyrocketing costs.

Under this system doctors, patients and hospitals have virtually no incentive to cut down expenditures. As a result, costs continue to rise out of control.

Medical technology, which has grown tremendously in the past decade, has contributed greatly to advances in medical care — and to increased costs.

Technological developments have saved millions of lives, and yet they are often blamed for dehumanizing health care.

Over $1 billion a year is spent on medical technologies, such as sophisticated heart monitors, CAT scanners, kidney dialysis machines, artificial hips, and heart pacemakers.

Much of the staggering cost associated with technology is also connected to routine tests, such as blood counts and chest X-rays.

While few would deny a positive benefits of many of these technologies in prolonging and improving the quality of life, there is increasing concern over the costs involved and the possibility that money invested elsewhere might benefit greater numbers of people.

A SYSTEM OF PARADOXES.

Our health care system is characterized by paradoxes: it is both personal and impersonal; it is meeting many needs individually, but collectively it costs too much; it provides high quality care to many, but others are left out or have great difficulty in obtaining the care that most of us take for granted.

Getting sick is a very painful experience, but more and more it involves large organizations, such as multi-unit hospital systems, university medical centers, and physician group practices; highly specialized health care personnel; complex methods of financing; and sophisticated technology.

We are experimenting with new ways of paying health-care providers and hospitals to encourage efficient use of resources.

Physicians, for example, could be paid a lump sum to care for a defined number of patients.

We are also trying new forms of organizing care that emphasize prevention and outpatient treatment rather than expensive hospital care.

The success of such changes in financing and organization will largely determine the development of a more cost-effective health-care system — and the future course of an industry that touches the lives of all Americans, from birth to death.

Next: Professor Irene Butler of the University of Michigan discusses the roles of family doctors, specialists, and new health practitioners.

Stephen M. Shortell, M.D., Ph.D., is professor of health services and director of the Center for Health Services Research in the School of Public Health and Community Medicine at the University of Washington. He is also an adjunct professor of sociology there.

Book recalls early years in Illinois

By VALERIE EVIDEN
of the Press-Record

A Vandalia resident, who almost qualifies to be called a Quad-Cityan because of her frequent visits here over the years has had her first book published at age 83 years.

Mrs. James Donaldson, mother of Mrs. Nigel Maeras of Granite City, is the author of "The Three of Us—Our Growing Up Years."

The book has been published by Don Hecke in Effingham and by the Pana Palladium Co. in Pana.

It is available at several locations, or from the author herself and from her daughter, Mrs. Maeras, at 931-2693, at a cost of $12.50 per copy.

For those interested in life in Illinois near the beginning of the 20th century, Mrs. Donaldson's book proves a goldmine of information.

"You should read it if you want to know what people did 80 years ago," the author commented.

Mrs. Donaldson was born and reared on a farm east of Ramsey in Carson Township, Ill.

The book describes people and events in the period from 1900 to 1916 and "The Three of Us" used in the title refers to the author—Wavie Cecil Bolt Donaldson—and her two brothers, Huntley Bolt and Velvie "Shad" Bolt.

It took Mrs. Donaldson 10 years to write the book, have it edited and then published.

She had no thought, at first, that her work would eventually be published.

"I didn't write it for publication or make money," she said.

"I just thought the grandchildren in time to come would be interested in it. I never gave a thought of it ever being printed," she added.

But at the urging of others, Mrs. Donaldson's handwritten pages were turned into a 135-page illustrated book.

The pages contain, as the title reflects, the experiences about the three Bolt children.

"And it's all fact, not fiction," the author states.

Mrs. Donaldson and her two brothers were orphaned at the age of 5, 6 and 7. Their mother died first and their father died a year later.

The children were reared by their grandparents, John Martin Bolt and Amanda Bolt.

Most of the writing of "The Three of Us" was done at night in Mrs. Donaldson's spare time and in her own words.

"I sometimes could cover 30 to 35 pages at one sitting. I really enjoyed it. People ask me how I can remember that far back, but I can," she commented.

She says people won't find anything fancy in her book, just the truth about the way things used to be.

"This book is written in simple language that anyone can understand. Read it with an open mind," Mrs. Donaldson asks.

She has been married for 43 years to James Donaldson, a retired painter and paper hanger.

They have three children—Mrs. Maeras and Darlene Hourigan and Jimmy Donaldson, both of Vandalia.

The Donaldsons also have seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The author said that she "had to write fast, as fast as I could think." A niece, Lucille Jensen, typed the manuscript.

Mrs. Donaldson was 70 years old when she began writing the book. "It was a pleasure for me to find out I had the potential," she says.

One of the chapters in the book deals with a trip the Bolt youngsters made with their parents to

AUTHOR. Mrs. James Donaldson of Vandalia, mother of Mrs. Nigel Maeras of Granite City, whose book, "The Three of Us—Our Growing Years," has been published.

Texas by wagon in 1902, and the family's adventures, including an encounter on a dusty narrow road with a wagon-load of "colored people."

Mrs. Donaldson writes, "The house, where we stopped, and asked to stay a few days, was about equal to our barn or chicken houses in Illinois, but it was shelter from the burning sun. There was a cotton field at the side of the so-called yard. It was all sand."

Mrs. Donaldson believes she could write another book, "If I set my mind to it. But, it seems like getting it published is what wore me down."

"People say that three years (the time it took her to get it published) isn't that big a deal," she added.

It sounds as if she has serious notions about a sequel to her book, "The Three of Us."

Services were held for Joseph G. Clark, 57, of 1903 Kirkpatrick Homes, a native and lifelong resident of Granite City, at 1 p.m. Friday, Feb. 6, at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave.

Burial was in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road.

Mr. Clark died at 12:20 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 5, 1981, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He was a veteran of service in the U. S. Navy and was formerly employed as a blacksmith at Laclede Steel Co.

His wife, Mary, died April 9, 1980.

Among the survivors are three sons, Modert, Elliott and Greg Clark, all of Granite City; four daughters, Mrs. Jerry (Judy) Hutchison, Mrs. Wayne (Jacky) Briley, Mrs. Gary (Mary Jo) Hutchison and Miss Jody Clark, all of Granite City; his mother, Mrs. Mary A. ## 2nd conviction for Arlin Davis

Arlin W. Davis, 51, of Holiday Mobile Home Park, who faces sentencing next week in connection with a drunken driving conviction stemming from a fatal accident, was found guilty in Edwardsville Friday of drunken driving and other traffic charges from an earlier accident.

Davis is awaiting sentencing March 3 after being convicted Nov. 26 on charges in connection with a fatal accident New Year's Eve, 1979, in which Larry Lehman of Granite City and two of his daughters died on State Rd. 38 between Granite City and Collinsville. Those charges include driving while intoxicated.

Friday, in a bench trial, Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand found him guilty of driving while intoxicated, failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and driving improperly on a restricted driver's license in connection with a Nov. 8, 1979, accident in Collinsville in which his car struck the rear of the auto of Paul Halbert of Granite City. There were no serious injuries in that accident. Attorney John Gitchoff defended Davis in both trials and Assistant State's Attorney Keith Jensen was prosecutor in Friday's bench trial.

Busy future planned for downtown theater

As first announced in Thursday's Press-Record, Washington Industries, Inc., has obtained a building permit from Granite City to install a new floor, at a cost of about $13,000, in the Washington Theater, 1332 Nineteenth St.

Additional plans for the building were announced during the weekend. Loren Werthen, business manager for the owners, Madison Mayor Mike Sasik, Avery Schermer and Leo Wolf, has announced plans to turn the old theater building into a ballroom with facilities for bands, plays, dining and dancing, which may be leased for wedding receptions, banquets, dinner theater presentations and concerts.

L. Wolf Construction Co. plans to turn the present sloped theater floor into a three-tier floor. The top tiers will be edged with wrought-iron railings and will be used for table seating. The bottom tier, closest to the stage, will be used for a ballroom-type dance floor, according to the plans.

The balcony will be retained, as will the murals, marquee and the old brass ticket office. Plans are to retain as much of the historical flavor of the old theater as possible, while making it into a comfortable and modern ballroom.

The main room will seat approximately 1,000 persons while the lobby will be available for lease for smaller gatherings, according to current plans. When completed, in May or June, the facility will be available for rent by groups and will be ideal for big bands, dinner theater presentations and large gatherings, it was announced.

Friday the 13th may be a bad day for some, but Granite City officials are hopeful for some good news by that deadline, particularly from insurance companies which are being asked to submit alternate programs to insure the health and major medical needs of city employees.

Proposals are being accepted through 4:30 p.m. Friday at the city clerk's office in city hall from insurance firms wishing to bid on health and major medical insurance for the city.

"I hope we get lots of proposals to study. Maybe we can save some money," Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the city's finance committee, told the Press-Record.

He said he hopes the city can save between 25 and 30 percent, either through a new policy or by the city self-insuring its employees and carrying

City accepts insurance proposals

insurance only for catastrophic claims. The current carrier of the health and major medical insurance for city employees, Golden Rule, has notified the city that it will terminate the coverage March 1, due to a high claims experience. Mayor Paul Schuler told the council at its last meeting that the search for a new insurance carrier "is not something precipitated by cancellation of our insurance."

Bowler said, "For six months, the mayor, the finance committee, the city attorney and Dave Nolan (administrative aide to the mayor) have been looking at alternatives. The city clerk has also been involved. We have met at least once or twice a month. This (cancellation) is not a surprise."

He said matching the budget to the new plan selected will be the most difficult chore. Now, the committee is simply "looking at many avenues to see which has the best rate."

In order to have an acceptable package adopted by March 1, Bowler said he plans to accept insurance proposals through Friday, Feb. 13, and then will refer the council at its Feb. 16 meeting on the proposals received.

A recommendation then will be formulated and presented to the council at its Feb. 24 meeting for adoption. Schuler said that if the council fails to adopt a new medical insurance policy by March 1, he feels certain that Golden Rule can be persuaded to continue the city's coverage for a brief time, until a replacement package can be adopted by the city.

Bowler said he feels the city can come up with a better insurance package at lower rates either through self-insuring, or through a combination of conventional and self-insurance.

New sewers

Singer agreed that the court refused to issue an order prohibiting layovers or use of the Brandon Heights Subdivision sewers, but noted, "The county moves at its own peril and may be required later to move those (sewer) pipes. If there are people tapped on, there could be a heck of a mess."

He added, "The rights of the parties right now is not very clear. The court left it in limbo. The pipe is there without legal authority because the homeowners have not been compensated for the land and the pipe is there illegally still," Singer added.

Another problem which will probably have to be worked out in the courts is the plight of about 120 homeowners who are in the sewer district, but will not be served by the new sewers.

Futch is urging those homeowners to obtain letters from his office, 4120 Highway 111, verifying that fact. The letter should be filed with the county clerk to be attached to the sewer taxes they have paid under protest.

Assistant Madison County State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith

pledged Jan. 12 to file something within 30 days with the courts to attempt to find a permanent resolution to the plight of those who will not receive sewer service, but are paying taxes for the sewers. That deadline is Thursday.

Persons involved include those who are already on Granite City sewers and did not require placement of county sewers near their homes. They have been paying a $10 per quarter (three months) surcharge to the city, in addition to the $12 per quarter treatment rate charged all users of the Granite City sewage treatment plant.

That surcharge, designed to repay the city for its retirement of the bonds used to finance the local share of constructing the treatment plant, will end Tuesday if the county approves the new agreement with Granite City.

City council members have indicated that they feel the $10 surcharge for those residing outside of the city limits, but using city sewers, should be reinstated immediately and the issue is expected to be considered by the council this month.

off, as the courthouse will be closed Feb. 12 and 16. Incidentally, it also will be closed on Washington's traditional birthday of Feb. 22, since that is a Sunday.

In direct opposition is the Press-Record, which will publish on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays. News never stops.

Some offices have decided to take the best of both worlds and remain open both birthdays, while still giving their employees a day off. They simply allow half the staff off

Feb. 12 and the other half gets off Feb. 16.

So, no matter which ex-president's birthday you prefer to celebrate, the patriotic thing to do if you plan on shopping or conducting any business Feb. 12 or 16, is to save gasoline by telephoning first to determine whether or not that office or business is celebrating the same president's birthday as you are.

Life sure would be easier if Washington and Lincoln had been born on the same day.

caused the underground water table to drop below the broken sewer for the first time since 1972.

The $50,000 allocated by the council, including about $43,000 "front money" already received from FEMA, including reimbursements for bypass pumping the city did around the break after the 1972 flood in this area caused the groundwater level to rise and damaged numerous sewers. The area was declared a disaster area, thus qualifying the breaks and pumping for federal reimbursement.

Portell said the additional 25 percent from FEMA may enable his workers to 3.—Through the use of these trucks, salvageable scrap was set aside in an old trailer, rather than paying to dump it at the local dump.

When this trailer became full, the scrap was sold and the money was used to give employees turkeys at Thanksgiving and hams for Christmas, and also baskets for the needy and shoes for needy children of the township. Since this practice was questioned by other township officials and he stopped the practice, dumping expenses have increased considerably for his department, the spokesman said.

4.—He also furnishes his own pickup truck for his use in the township and only charges $140 per month expenses, plus gasoline and maintenance. This made his department able to buy a new dump truck for road work use and snow plowing.

He states that if the township instead leased him a truck to use during his duties, it would cost at least $200 per month plus insurance, maintenance and license, so he feels this is a saving for Nameoki Township taxpayers, the spokesman said.

Mehellic also states that he feels he has done a good job on the roads — throughout the township — but admits he can make human mistakes and he hopes these rumors come to an end.

He added that he hopes the campaign is conducted on the conditions of roads of Nameoki Township, except for the roads that were torn up by Madison County Special Sewer District contractors and must be repaired under their contract.

GC woman accuses Army

Miss Andrea Mann, 20, of Granite City is accusing the Army of sex discrimination because it told her five days after she reported for duty Oct. 24 that she would be discharged as overweight. She sent letters last week asking Cong. Melvin Price and Sen. Charles Percy to help her become a member of the armed services. A scale at Fort Jackson, S. C., had determined that she weighed 149 pounds, nine pounds over the maximum for her height of five feet, four inches.

An inquiry will be made by Price, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

She said she enlisted in the Army Reserve in July and was accepted with a waiver because she weighed 144. With 149 recorded after she had been inducted this fall, she was given an honorable discharge from active service in mid-November.

On Feb. 2, an Air Force recruiter told her the enlistment code on her Army discharge barred her from enlisting, despite above-average test scores. The code allegedly indicated she had an attitude, aptitude or discipline deficiency although she had performed all duties and "was never in any kind of trouble."

Discrimination is being alleged because at least five women were sent home from Fort Jackson for being overweight and "there were all sorts of flabby men walking around there."

An Army spokesman said such rules are imposed equally on both sexes. An Air Force recruiter said the weight gain perhaps was construed as related to attitude.

The Granite City area is hopeful of becoming an Air Force photographer.

GRANITE CITY (ILL.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, February 9, 1981—7

South holes off Lancers' charge

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — When you're on a losing skid, it's hard to get back on track. You would have never thought the Granite City South basketball team had lost three games in a row.

The way the Warriors played here Saturday in their 66-58 victory over Belleville East, it seemed like they had just continued a winning streak instead of snapping a losing one.

The most amazing fact about South's sixth win of the season in 20 games, is that it was only the second win at home. "We just needed a win, especially at home," said Warrior head coach Don Deterding. "We felt we could win this game and we almost felt we had to. We had to play well, too."

If the Warriors were in a slump, they did a good job of hiding it, as if they had never lost three games in a row. "It wasn't an exciting game," said Deterding. "They just went out and got the job done." And South waited until the fourth quarter to compete its work.

When they didn't need to, the Warriors could hit free throw if their lives depended on it. But, when it came down to the final period and the charity tosses were most important, they were on the mark.

After missing nine straight

Warriors roll past Belleville, East, 66-58

free throws, Joe Schnefke connected on South's first in the fourth quarter. With that, everyone found the touch. It came at an appropriate time as East was making one final run at the Warrior lead.

South had built a ten point margin after three periods, but the Lancers cut it to two with a spurt of six straight points midway through the fourth quarter. With both teams in the bonus free throw situation, the Warriors connected on eight of 15 free throws while hitting seven of nine shots from the floor.

The most encouraging aspect of the win is that they (South) fought off East's charge. Said Deterding, "I only called one time-out in the fourth quarter and they regained their composure and handled the pressure on their own. From a coaches stand point, it was worth while to see."

Mingled within his game high 30 points, George Sykes converted four of five free throws. All of them came in the fourth quarter. "He's (Sykes) a pretty good bet on the free throw line," said Deterding. Sykes was also perfect with three shots as he scored 10 points in the final period. "I would have to say free throw, was the deciding factor in the game," said Lancer head coach Don Oness. "I felt when we were down 49-46 we had a chance. But, we made only one out of our next six attempts from the line. You can't expect to beat people when you blow free throws."

Missing charity tosses was only one of Belleville's worries. The Lancers had to contend with a hot shooting Warrior team, too. South hit a sizzling 65 percent in the second half and 56 for the game. "I felt we had to score some point and keep them to a minimum," said Oness. "We are just inadequate in too many areas to play winning basketball."

The Warriors seemed to look sharper in every thing they did. Ken McManus teamed up with Sykes in double figures with 17 while Jim Choat added 10. Eric Wallenberger cleaned up the boards with 10 rebounds and when East attempted its come-back and threw a press on South, it was Schnefke who took care of the ball handling chores.

"It was just a super team effort," said Deterding. "Being that we have only won two games at home now, it's for the fans to see game like this. It was good for us to win, too."

South's win made up for the Junior Varsity which was forced to play catch-up in its game with East. The Warriors lost the preliminary contest 68-47. Down 34-31 at the half, South's inconsistency from the free throw line and shabby ball handling allowed the Lancers to open up a wider margin in the second 16 minutes. In fact, neither team controlled the basketball with much authority as the Warriors turned the ball over 34 times and East had 36.

John Linhart led South with 17 points as Tom Miller followed close behind with 16. Pat Linhart added 10.

Bob Schroeder and Mark Going paced the victors with 18 a piece. Scott Oness added 12 and Rick Schmidt had 10.

Victory number six

Venice is stomped by O'Fallon Tech, 74-45

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

ST. LOUIS — For the team the Venice Red Devils put on the floor here Saturday night, the game wasn't too bad.

Venice lost to tough O'Fallon Tech 74-46, but it wasn't for lack of effort. Perhaps lack of numbers, but not lack of effort. Venice head coach Ken Perkins suspended three of his top players for the game because of disciplinary reasons. And the team was conspicuous by their absence. Off the team were starters Archie Gardner, Williams Watts and John Williams. It definitely made a difference.

"You know, we didn't really play all that bad for who we had out there and the team we were playing," said Perkins. "Except for the end of the first half and the beginning of the second half, we played them close."

Venice trailed by only eight points with less than a minute to go in the second quarter. But a straight turnover and O'Fallon Tech layups made it a 12-point O'Fallon lead at halftime, 35-23.

O'Fallon Tech opened the third quarter with guns blazing. They made their first seven shots in a row. That was the ol' ballgame.

"Except for about four and a half minutes, we stayed with them," said Perkins. "I didn't think that was too bad for the people we had."

With the absence of Gardner, Williams and Watts, the Red Devils were without most of their outside shooting attack. And that meant having to go inside against the much taller O'Fallon Tech front line. "Anytime you have to go inside up against a front line

6-8, 6-6 and 6-6, you're hurting," said Perkins. "But when you have to rely on going inside for just about all of your points, it's even worse."

Early in the game, Venice did a good job controlling the tempo. The Red Devils kept it down enough to bother O'Fallon Tech, but still kept it moving enough for themselves. "I thought we were controlling the tempo well," said Perkins. "But some mistakes hurt us."

The loss dropped Venice's overall record to 7-12 on the season. Venice will play at home Tuesday night (6:30 and 8) against Livingston. Livingston is no O'Fallon Tech. "That's true, but everybody's tough for us since we're not playing well," said Perkins. "I'm not sure who'll be back from the suspensions, either."

"If all goes well,

everybody should be back before the (Columbia) regionals start (the last week of February)."

Against O'Fallon Tech, the Red Devils were led in scoring by Dean Johnson, a 5-10 sophomore, with 10 points. Keith Marchbanks scored eight points, as did Eddie Salmond.

South girls rout Alton

GRANITE CITY — Behind the one-two scoring punch of Chris Boyd and Kathy Sikora, the Granite City South girls basketball team, ranked third in the Press-Record Area Girls' Poll, cruised to its ninth straight victory without a loss this season here Thursday, 80-46 over non-conference rival Alton.

Alton on inside shots, Boyd and Sikora were the Warriors' needed. Boyd scored 35 points and Sikora had 27. Both were career highs.

"Chris was unstoppable," said South head coach Gary Morgan. "I don't think it would've made any difference who she was playing against. She was amazing."

The South phenom made 16 of 21 field goal attempts (77 percent) and was three of five from the free throw line. Sikora's outburst was unexpected. In the last two games, she had scored a combined total of 10 points. "It was by far her best game," said Morgan. "They (Alton) couldn't stop her inside. Of course, both she and Chris got some good assists from Nita (Graham)." Graham, the scoring heroine in South's last two games, including a last-second shot to beat Triad last Tuesday, scored only two points against Alton. "Why should we have her shoot from the outside when we can get a sure thing inside?" asked Morgan. "She penetrated well and made some good assists."

The Warriorettes were never threatened by the Redwings. They jumped out to a 22-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and never looked back. South led 45-23 at halftime.

But South won't be able to sit back and enjoy its winning streak too long. Tuesday, it hosts tough Belleville West, ranked second in the Press-Record Poll. "Probably our toughest opponent during the regular season," said Morgan. "It should be a good one. We're looking forward to it."

Junior varsity action will begin at 6:30 with the varsity game set for around 8.

Quincy manhandles Lincoln

Special to the Press-Record

QUINCY — It was business as usual here Saturday night for the Quincy Blue Devils. Quincy, ranked number one in the state in both wire service state-wide Class AA polls, rolled to an easy 82-46 victory over the out-classed East St. Louis Lincoln Tigers, ranked eighth in the state and number one in the Press-Record Class AA Coaches' Poll.

Even though both teams are in the state's top ten, the difference between them is like night and day. Quincy rode the 29-point performance of Bruce Douglas, to victory. "He was outstanding tonight," said Quincy's colorful coach, Jerry Leggett. "A good athlete is one who makes a second effort. But what do you say about one who makes a good fourth or fifth effort? I don't know a word for that yet." Douglas was 11 of 26 from the floor, and seven of nine from the free throw line. It was Quincy's 19th victory without a loss

basketball

this season and was also its 43rd consecutive victory at home going back over three seasons. The Quincy home victory string is 47 games.

Leading only 16-15 in the first quarter, the Blue Devils scored eight points of the period and never looked back. At halftime, the score was 47-33.

Edwards Wilson of East St. Louis Lincoln wasn't about to be outdone by Douglas. He grabbed game-high scoring honors with 30 points. But there simply wasn't enough to go with it.

In the third quarter,

Lincoln made a comeback attempt. With 4:50 remaining, Todd Porter scored on a layup to pull the Tigers within eight points 53-45. But that was as close as Lincoln would get.

Quincy's all-state center, 6-10 Mike Payne, scored 10 points in the first quarter, but picked up his third personal foul early in the second period and wasn't a factor the rest of the way.

Mark Madgett scored two of his game high 23 points with five minutes left in the game giving Madison the lead for the first time, 52-51.

who sparked the rally.

Firing in 10 of his 12 points in the fourth quarter, Manson ignited a fierce come-back that enabled the Trojans to defeat the Flyers in the preliminary contest 67-57. The victory kept Madison with a perfect 13-0 record.

Trailing by six after three quarters, the Trojans came out for the final period like a new team. Madgett scored two of his game high 23 points with five minutes left in the game giving Madison the lead for the first time, 52-51.

Triad blasts North

GRANITE CITY — Losing a close basketball game can be a tough thing to overcome. You just want to take out your frustration on somebody else. The Triad Knights' girls squad dropped a tough overtime loss last Tuesday and made up for it with a sound beating of Granite City North, 64-38 here Saturday.

With only one senior on the team, North can't afford to lose the experience. The Steelers would be helpless otherwise. Triad found out how easy it was without Cindy Goeller in the North lineup.

"It doesn't help when your only senior is sitting on the bench for two starters," said Steeler head coach Harry Cook. "Cindy had four fouls in the first half and I pulled her out in the second quarter. I didn't put her back until the fourth."

It was all the time Triad needed. Goeller is North's leading rebounder, averaging 13 a game. With her out of the game, the Knights had a field day under the boards against the much younger Steelers squad.

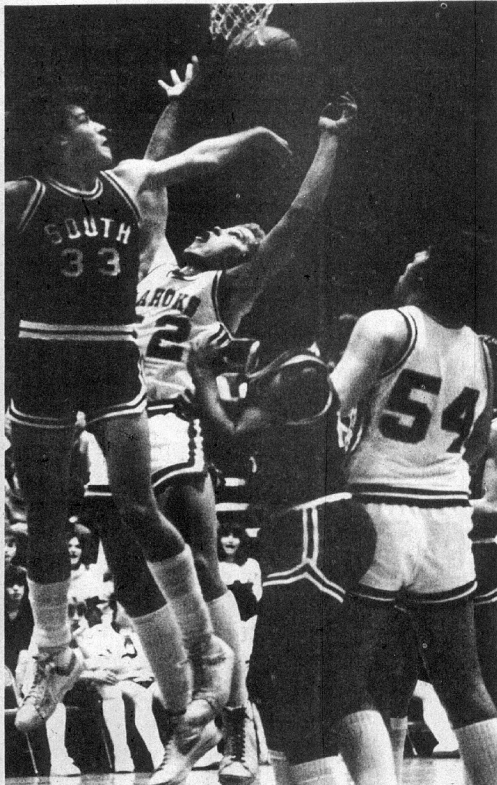

"It was playing four sophomores and one junior at times," said Cook. "We were beaten inside and on the boards very soundly. When you only get one shot and they get three, you can't expect to win ball games."

The Steelers were still in the game at the half, down by 11, but without some strength in the middle, Triad pulled away with a 19-9 count in the third period. Chris Schwehr led the assault for the Knights (10-1) with 22 points and 12 rebounds. Ellen Rowe followed with 21 points and 10 while Jamie Lautz chipped in 16 points and 12 more rebounds.

"The rebounds and fouls were slightly top-sided," said Cook. "We gave up the base line consistently and they killed us inside."

Getting beat to the basket only resulted in 22 fouls called on North to only nine for Triad. "There is no excuse for that," added Cook.

Despite spending two quarters on the bench, Goeller managed to be chatted up eight points. Paula French maintained the offensive charge as she led the Steelers (18-1) with 11. "Their (Triad) skill level was much better than ours," said Cook. "I can see why they can play (Granite City) South into overtime."

HIGH FLYING. Granite City South's Eric Waltenberger (33) leaps high to block a shot by Collinsville's 6-4 junior Marvin Korinek. Waltenberger is a 6-2 senior. At right are Collinsville's 6-10 senior Jim McConkey (54) and South's Ken Mamanus.

Kahoks grab close one from Warriors

By RICK WELLS
For the Press-Record
COLLINSVILLE — Neither the Collinsville Kahoks nor the Granite City South Warriors are going to write home and brag about Friday night's game.

The Kahoks, for some unexplained reason, looked flat and lifeless through most of the contest. South, was plagued by mistakes and poor shooting. The result was a somewhat dull 63-55 Collinsville victory at Fletcher Gymnasium.

"I think we were flat," said Collinsville head coach Gene Zappa. "Why? That's a good question. We have no reason to be overconfident. We had three guys that just made the starting lineup. You'd think they'd be working a little harder."

"We finally got it together and went up by 14 and decided not to play aggressively. And of course, our free throw shooting didn't help," he said.

Friday wasn't the best night for either team in the free throw department. Collinsville hit on 11 of 20 (55 percent) and South hit on 13 of 20 (65 percent). The three players that just made the Kahoks' starting lineup were junior Marvin Korinek, sophomore Marc Parker and freshman Mike Hunter.

None of them had an outstanding game, although Hunter's stats proved to be impressive for a freshman.

The 6-3, 160 pound forward finished the night's work with 14 points and nine rebounds.

South coach Don Deterding wasn't very happy with either the outcome or the play of his team. "We didn't play very smart," he said.

"Free throws probably hurt us the entire ballgame. On offense, we just did not show patience."

Deterding said the times South did work the ball, "we did get a good shot. We didn't always make it, but did get a good shot."

"I think the keys, in all honesty, were two rebound baskets (Jim) McConkey got right before the half."

McConkey, who had 18 points and nine rebounds, lifted the Kahoks before halftime.

Southern baseball Cougars getting ready for 1981 season

By MARK PETROVICH
For the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — The building of a sports team with a certain mixture of motivation, personality and of course ability are a thing a coach strives for.

Cowach Gary "Bo" Collins has built the 1981 edition of the Cougars' baseball squad to his liking at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"This is the third year Collins has coached the Cougars since the departure of the legendary Roy Lee. Most of the players on the roster, except for one or two, were recruited by Collins to play baseball at SIUE. It will be the first team built only by Collins and his staff. And that makes him feel very good. Collins hopes he has the players to have a winning season this year."

"I feel we had a very good recruiting year," said Collins. All recruiting was done last spring, he said. There will be 15 players returning from last year's team, in addition to seven new players.

SIUE has five starters and three key pitchers back this year. "We'll be better all around this year," said Collins. He has recruited five pitchers, three right-handers and two left-handers.

Last year's SIUE baseball team finished with a 26-27 record. It was a losing campaign, true, but Collins had his charges on the right track. They closed out the schedule with five straight victories, including a pair of victories over NAIA powerhouse Lewis University of Joliet.

Lewis went on to finish second in the national NAIA tournament.

PITCHERS
A look at the team:
Doug Rains, a transfer from Jefferson J.C., is a junior right-hander. Rains prepped at Granite City

North and is a nephew of one of SIUE's all-time great hurlers, Don Rains. Joe Silkwood, a transfer from Lewis and Clark, is also a junior right-hander. Chris Dawdy, a junior left-hander, is a valuable prospect from Lewis and Clark J.C.

Rains and Dawdy are both talented. "They don't impress a batter with their stuff, but they win," said Collins. "They throw strikes and move the ball around," he said.

Jim Schiebel, a freshman left-hander from Edwardsville, High, played for Coach Bill Funkhouser.

Along with the pitching recruits, the Cougars will have Tom Ritzheimer, Ted Smith, Kent Taylor and John Lakin from Granite City South, who are proven veterans from last year.

He played in the Class AA Illinois State Baseball Tournament last year.

Dave Gray, a freshman right-hander from Oakville, Mo., and Don Sheedy, a junior right-hander from Meramec J.C., are also very good prospects. Sheedy was red-shirted last year. That rounds out the new pitching staff.

South slops Steelers for city crown

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Like
wo roosters in a cockfight, the Granite City South and Granite City South wrestling teams sized each other up at center mat before the annual crosstown matchup at South Thursday night. The meeting was a long time coming and by the looks on the Steelers during introductions, they were ready.

They weren't.
North had been forced to play second-fiddle behind the Warriors since Christmas
while being ranked number two by the board of coaches in the Press-Record
Wrestling Coaches' Poll.

The coaches were correct.
South overwhelmed the Steelers, taking nine of the 12 weight classes, enroute to a 34-15 victory.
North head coach Walt Whitaker emphasized after the match that the only way his Steelers could have had a chance against South was to take at least four out of the first six weight classes. "I knew we had to do something in the lower weights, because I knew what was coming in their (South)

upper weights," said
Whitaker.
His wishes almost came true. Gerald Miller at 112 pounds recorded his sixteenth point of the season. At the 137 mark of the second period, Miller pinned South's Rich Miller. It improved his season record to 30-1.

With that win, the Steelers has widened the gap over South to 10-3. North got another win when Mik
Robinson (24-3-1) won at 105.
He got four team points when he beat Mike Trgovich, 8-0.

The Warriors opened the mat with an 8-4 decision by Chris Cottrell at 98 pounds.
He defeated Greg Nemeth.
Whitaker was confident with North's bout at 118. The Steelers' Steve Smith was tangling with Greg Garland.
Smith had beaten Garland earlier in the season. But, Garland (25-2) got Smith for a near fall in the second period and opened up a 7-2 lead and went on to win 10-4.

Garland's win put a crimp in North's plans. There was more damage to come. The Warriors' Randy Lupardus
(21-2-1) had to hold off Rod Unger at 126. He did. Unger used a reversal and a penalty point in the third period to draw within one, 5-5.

Dean Perkins at 260
Perkins, a state-wide recognized power, remained unbeaten with an easy 13-5 win South's Steve Dowdy got a near fall over Bob Patton in the second period of his 167 pound bout to grab the lead, 5-3 and hung on win.

Trojans roar post East Side

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press-Record
MADISON — To say there was a barnburner of a basketball game here Friday would be an understatement.
It was much hotter.

Advocates of a solid defense wouldn't have looked on the game between Madison and East St. Louis with much favor, but the sellout crowd loved it. In a wild offensive show, the Trojans outscored East Side 104-94.
Because of the statement concerning the absence of Morris Hughes in last Thursday's Press-Record,
Madison head coach Larry Graham refused to talk to the Press-Record after the game with the Flyers.
However, Graham said he had not read the article.

The problems surrounding Hughes must not have lasted very long, because he was in uniform and started the game for Madison. What an addition he made too.
Without Hughes, the Trojans might have faltered against a very speedy, strong and sharp shooting Flyer club.
But with Hughes, Madison was almost unstoppable.
"I think we were more confident with Morris in there," said Trojan Kevin Stanley. "But, it was the kind of game where we wanted East Side and they wanted us."
Oh, what a difference one player makes. Especially when it's the caliber of player like Hughes. Although outsized with the Flyers starting forwards at 6-3 and 6-4 and a center at 6-7,

Madison's Hughes, Pat
Hatter and Mark Zarr played well above their height.

Zarr scored only six points, but his five blocked shots were enough to give East St. Louis second thoughts, honest about his aggressive play also cost him — he fouled out in the fourth quarter.

Once again it was Hatter and Hughes show. Dropping in 14 of his 25 points for the game, Hughes helped give Madison a comfortable 10-point lead throughout the first half. The Trojans looked awesome and threatened to blow the game open when they went up by 12.

"I'll sure be plays my team, they're off the team," said Hughes.
Hughes played a big part
in Madison dominating show, but the Trojans got key efforts from other
players. Charles Claggett, held relatively quiet in the first half, exploded with nine second half points. It may not sound like much, but it was a time when Madison
started to pull away.
Claggett totaled 14 for the game.

"We didn't have consistency during the game,"
said Nunn. "We got to run
with them too much in the second half and they just outplayed us. This was highest

there was nobody on the court, Hatter threw in some moves that would have made the Harlem Globetrotters proud. Muscling in 10 of 13 shots in the second half and six for 10 from the free throw line, his 33 point performance was awesome. He even grabbed 10 rebounds.
When you talk rebound,
though, you're talking about Hughes. For a player standing only 6-2, Hughes played well over the rim.
Madison out-rebounded the Flyers 50-40 and Hughes collected 19.

"I had heard about the problem with Hughes through the grapevine and I knew he would be back," said Nunn. "When it comes down to the tough games, Larry (Graham) wants to win."

"When I put somebody off the team, they're off the team."

Hughes played a big part
in Madison dominating
show, but the Trojans got
key efforts from other
players. Charles Claggett,
held relatively quiet in the first half, exploded with nine second half points. It may not sound like much, but it
was a time when Madison
started to pull away.
Claggett totaled 14 for the
game.

"We didn't have consistency during the game,"
said Nunn. "We got to run
with them too much in the second half and they just outplayed us. This was highest score we have had in a losing game, yet."

It was the second time this season Madison has scored over a 100 points. When the Trojans needed the big buckets, they looked to the player with all the assists.
Stanley's 15 points was only a bright spot in an otherwise sparkling performance.
Handing out 15 assists, he played point guard to near perfection — both on offense and defense.

Against the Flyers in December, it was Kevin McKinney who burned
Madison from the outside.
His lightning quickness was stifled by Stanley who held him to just three first half points and 14 total. "Madison out-scraped us, they out-hustled us and they beat us with their overall quickness," said Nunn. "I can see why they have trouble getting home games."

And if it wasn't Madison's strong man-to-man defense, then its sizzling 67 percent shooting touch in the second half and 56 for the game certainly crushed East Side.
"We knew we had to stop them from scoring," said Nunn. "They just shot a lot better."

The Flyers didn't have that much trouble putting points on the board. Robert Gordon drilled in 25 before fouling out. Tommie Johnson hit for 23 and Eric Stevenson popped in 21 with 19 in the second half.

second time this season.

Lancers roll past North

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

BELLEVILLE — It wasn't exactly a night to remember.
Especially for Granite City
North's basketball Steelers.
But then, they've had a lot of nights to forget this season.
North dropped its 18th game of the season (without a victory) here Friday night to Belleville East 73-49. The victories have been few and far between for East this season too.

The outcome was never in doubt, even though the Lancers didn't blow it open until the fourth quarter. But it was obvious watching the two teams which would win
the game. "We just look up, see the score and say here it goes again," said North head coach Bill Ohlendorf. "We just didn't play much defense tonight at all. They (East) played much more aggressively."

"When you're losing like we are, the ball starts to bounce the other way."

While a considerable lack of defense might have contributed to North's loss, its 15 first half turnovers didn't help. "We gave them
the ball too many times," said Ohlendorf. "We hit a lot of shots early in the game and that was that."

East coach Don Otness has seen his share of hard times this season too. But not as bad as Ohlendorf. At least the Lancers were able to chalk up their fourth victory of the season. "We neededone like this," said Otness. "We beat Murphysboro (in the East Tournament) two weeks ago.
This is a morale builder. It makes you feel much better."

North was able to cut the turnovers down considerably in the second half. The Steelers finished the game with 20. But the damage was already done. Harold Rody scored 14 points for the Steelers — their lone bright spot. "I guess you could say in a slightly less-than-average attack, he's our main attack," said Ohlendorf.

East jumped out to an 18-10 lead at the end of the first quarter and led 35-20 at halftime. The Lancers outscored the Steelers 12-10 in the third quarter. East went wild, outscoring North 26-19 in the fourth quarter. "We were able to take the ball through North's defense much easier than we thought we'd be able to," said Otness. "We figured their press would give more trouble."

"We realize we have a long way to go," said Ohlendorf.
"Hopefully we'll get a spark and win a game or two. But until that happens, we'll continue to have a hard time."

Mr. and Mrs. Dewayne Ellis

Ellis-Young

An out-of-town wedding of interest here was that of Miss Carla Young of Paragould, Ark., formerly of Granite City, and Dewayne Ellis of Paragould.

The couple exchanged their marriage vows in a double ring ceremony at 2 p.m. Dec. 13, in the Stonewall (Ark.) Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Smothers of Paragould, formerly of Granite City, and the late Carl Young.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Laymen Ellis of Paragould.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Lela Ellis, a cousin of the bride. Two sisters of the groom also served in the wedding party.

The former Miss Young chose a full length bridal gown of alencon lace over taffeta. Delicate lace fashioned the yoke, edged with a narrow ruffle at the neckline, and formed the long sleeves, ending in points over the wrists. The skirt was designed with a full train.

She wore a long lace veil over her hair, adorned with a short blusher of alencon-trimmed illusion. Blue and yellow daisies and white carnations, accented with trailing yellow satin ribbons, created her colonial style bouquet.

The honor attendant selected a long gown of yellow peau de sole and carried a bouquet of white and yellow daisies.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church hall. Several relatives from Granite City were among the guests.

The bride graduated in 1980 from Oak Grove (Ark.) High School. She had attended Prather Junior High School while living here.

Her husband is a graduate of Lefe (Ark.) High School. The newlyweds are making their home in Paragould.

Two workshops for Girl Scout leaders

The River Bluffs Girl Scouts Council and the SIUE Office of Continuing Education will hold two workshops for Girl Scout leaders and trainers this week.

TALK ON SOCIAL DUTIES OF FIRMS

A communications specialist who works at solving the social responsibilities of businesses will be the guest speaker at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 12, at the student chapter meeting of the American Society of Personnel Administration at SIUE.

Paul Stames, director of communications at Pet, Inc., will discuss why businesses should understand and contribute to the social needs of communities. He also will explain how businesses and the public can gain economically from improving social welfare instead of merely meeting legal requirements. The meeting is open to the public, in the Dogwood Room of the University Center.

The purpose of these workshops is to update and expand the knowledge of leaders and trainers already in the field, and to develop the leadership qualities of those interested in working with young people.

A workshop focusing on creative playmaking for children and teenagers will be held at the Girl Scout headquarters in Glen Carbon (11 W. Main St.) tomorrow from 9 a.m. until noon.

Instruction will include exploration of simple "make-believe" and dramatic games, as well as the more ambitious techniques of pantomime and improvisation. The workshop is free.

A workshop on Easter egg creativity will be held Thursday from 9:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. at the Edwardsville Immanuel Methodist Church. Registration of $3 covers the cost of course materials. Participants are to bring along a bag of onion skins and scraps of wrapping paper. They are to provide their own sack lunches.

WATER SUPPLY CLASS

A two-day workshop on gas and hypochlorination for both water supply and wastewater treatment operators will be held Feb. 16-17 at SIUE. It is the third in a series of basic treatment classes at the Environmental Resources Training Center.

Plan model health fair

Health Fair '81 will hold a model health fair on Feb. 17 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Breckenridge Inn, Lindbergh Boulevard at Highway 40.

It will be a preview of the over 45 individual fairs that will be held throughout the metropolitan area April 2-12 in malls, civic centers, churches, colleges and hospitals. Areas served in April will include the Quad-Cities.

All of the fairs will provide free screening for anemia, blood pressure, weight and visual acuity, as well as summary and referral services.

In addition, many sites will offer free screening for glaucoma, cancer, diabetes, podiatry, oral cancer, dental problems and hearing.

A blood chemistry test which screens for possible liver and kidney dysfunction, gout and 20 other blood variables will be available at many sites for a $6 fee.

Last year, 20,000 individuals took advantage of the health fairs, 15,000 going through the screening process.

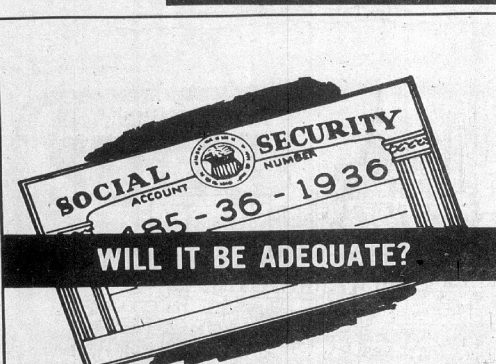

The fairs are made possible through the efforts of over 3,500 individuals who volunteered their time and expertise to provide the bi-state area with over $5,000,000 worth of free health screening, follow-up and health education.

The model fair will offer 10 screening stations and more than 20 educational exhibits. The public may participate in any or all of the screening stations. Those who plan to have the blood chemistry test are to fast for four hours.

Funds granted to cut heating cost

Governor James R. Thompson announced last week the U.S. Department of Energy has awarded the State of Illinois $15,054,000 to help low-income families reduce their heating costs.

"The weatherization program is designed to help low-income people, particularly the elderly and handicapped. Funds are provided for caulking and weatherstripping; for installing insulation, storm doors, and windows; and for making other minor repairs and improvements to reduce heat loss and conserve energy," Thompson said.

The money is part of the weatherization assistance for Low-Income Persons

Program administered in Illinois by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA).

An estimated 9,100 homes in Illinois will be weatherized through the program.

Officials of the U.S. Department of Energy said additional funds may be provided to Illinois by the end of the year, allowing additional houses to be weatherized.

Applications for weatherization assistance will be accepted by community action agencies, planning and development commissions and other social service centers throughout the state. To identify the administering agency in your area, call toll free, (800) 252-8643.

1966—IP's Baldwin power plant being built.

For generations some people have said that no more electric power plants are needed. If we and the rest of the utility industry had heeded those words, electricity today would be a precious commodity that would have to be closely rationed. Many of the good jobs and labor-saving devices we take for granted simply would not exist.

We have an obligation to see to it that the next generation will have ample electric energy too.

Remember, years ago somebody looked ahead and built the power plants that supply you today.

Valentine's Day from ancient Rome to prebibles, the feeling is still same

Is romance dead? Far from it. It's alive and well and beating the hearts of everyone who loves and needs to be loved. If Valentine's Day is any indication, the occasion ranks second to Christmas as a card-sending holiday, according to the American Greetings News Service.

During this national "love-in" on Feb. 14, most people might be hard-pressed to explain the origins responsible for their heart-to-heart exchange of cards, candy and love letters.

Dr. Lee W. Gibbs, acting chairman of the department of religious studies at Cleveland State University, says St. Valentine is commemorated primarily in North America and Britain.

"There were at least eight men with the name Valentine, seven of whose religious feast days fall on Feb. 14," said Gibbs.

One of the most credible legends dates back to 269 A.D. when Valentine, a priest in Rome, defied Emperor Claudius II's belief that single men made better soldiers.

"The priest, thinking this attitude was unfair, joined several couples in matrimony," Valentine was swiftly sent to prison, where he eventually died. Friends buried his body in a churchyard.

Despite the number of Valentine legends, common themes linking them all involve compassion, martyrdom or the passing of love.

Area between the bars of prison windows.

In 469 A.D., Pope Gelasius named Feb. 14 as St. Valentine's Day. The new Christian holiday gradually became a time for exchanging love messages, and the patron saint of courtship and lovers.

People in England were probably sending Valentine greetings as early as the 1400s. By around 1800, the first commercial Valentine cards appeared, featuring fine penmanship, ribbons and love symbols, such as doves, cups, flowers and bleeding hearts.

Traditional artwork and sentiments on Valentine cards still remain ever-popular, although contemporary adaptations are increasing in acceptance.

Studio and humorous cards, also known as "slams," are equal to exchanging Valentine messages without undue sentimentality, according to James Semon, a greeting card executive.

"Slam cards are slightly irreverent in a humorous, chiding fashion," said Semon. "Artwork is also more far-out." A typical verse might read:

"A Valentine for my husband... Lots of women marry a guy...and then try to change him, but not me, honey. I love you just the way you are...but don't get an worse! Happy Valentine's Day."

The fist slams were "quite horrible." They were directed at wives who didn't take care of their husbands, obesity and other human weaknesses.

During World War II, slams became even more intense, with a "get even" note reflecting strong patriotism and the clear-cut good vs. bad nature of the time. This continued throughout the McCarthy era of the early 1950s.

During the Vietnam years, cynical cards had their lowest ebb. Instead, cards with romantic photographic art and introspective, conversational messages were enthusiastically received.

The increasingly educated Vietnam generation placed emphasis on "love, not war." Once peace was restored, so was humor.

If Valentine's Day is any barometer of shifting social values, the decade of the '80s looks like a return to old-fashioned romance and tradition.

The more conservative mood of the country is reflected, for example, in the resurgence of the preppy look in dressing, high school proms and other "square" customs, Semon says.

What accounts for this shift to the traditional? "Perhaps the country is settling down and changing from a 'me' to an 'us' generation."

"Kids today are more realistic and are focusing on their careers and on recreational pursuits and day-to-day existence rather than causes. There also is an increase in the number of people in the 20 to 35 age bracket."

Today's conservative cards may be a return to the Andy Hardy era, when movies were filled with happy days and happy endings. President Ronald Reagan, for instance, brought a lot of happy endings to movies. Valentine's Day is seen by some as a way to re-enter the traditional social mainstream.

Alberta Braun, a greeting card editor, adds that among Valentine's Day has become more sentimental and has broadened in scope to encompass friends, near and far, in addition to lovers and spouses.

"People find it easier to express themselves with cards, and Valentine's Day provides the ideal opportunity to break down the barriers of not showing emotions."

"The holiday is also a symbol of stability and hope in the face of social change. Semon noted other contemporary trends regarding Valentine's Day. Men are now increasingly willing to "cut up" with their feelings, on due in part to a relaxing of rigid role playing."

In addition, cards featuring such popular characters as Ziggy and Holly Hobbie are increasing in popularity because people can relate to them. Ziggy, a comic strip hero, is called the "everyperson" for men and women.

To matter how much Valentine's Day is studied, however, Mrs. Braun emphasized, it remains a plain, simple holiday that will never go out of style, since it is so associated with romance and love: "A person is never too old to respond to these basic human feelings and needs."

Children's Dental Health month

By MARY RICHARDS, Illinois

February is Children's Dental Health month. This week's column will give you some tips on how to care for children's teeth, what to feed children, they will have strong, healthy teeth and gums, and how to train them to care for their teeth for a lifetime.

Usually, habits formed in childhood are continued into adulthood. The earlier you teach your child to clean their teeth properly, the better. Also, it is important that your children visit the dentist beginning at age two, and as often as the dentist suggests.

If you do not live in a fluoride-recycled water area, contains fluoride in desirable amounts, your dentist may recommend a sodium fluoride mouth rinse. Fluoride won't prevent all dental problems, but it will significantly reduce its occurrence.

The Illinois Department of Public Health feels that the benefits of fluoride are so important that it sponsors a statewide fluoride mouth rinse program for school children living in areas that do not have public water systems.

Your child should have two child-sized toothbrushes so that one will always be dry. Encourage your child to brush regularly, preferably before bedtime, and after eating sweets. Proper brushing technique is to brush up and down and back-and-forth.

So, to promote your children's chances of keeping their natural teeth throughout their lives and reduce the costs of dental care later in life, the state health department encourages you to follow these practices: visit the dentist regularly; see that your children get the benefits of fluoride; teach them to brush their teeth properly after meals and snacks; serve them well-balanced meals; encourage them to eat fruits, vegetables and grain.

Percy-Dixon bill would restrict grain embargoes

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) and Senator Alan J. Dixon (D-Ill.) last week introduced legislation that would place new restrictions on the embargo of agricultural exports for foreign policy or national security reasons.

The Agricultural Export Protection Act of 1981 would prohibit the embargo of farm exports to a particular country unless such an embargo was part of an embargo on all exports to that country, or had received prior approval by both houses of Congress.

"Never again would the farmers of America be singled out by the order of a president alone to bear an unfair share of the national burden made necessary by foreign policy or national security concerns," Percy said.

"There has been considerable controversy over whether embargoes succeed in their long-term, long-term, I think the answer is clearer. Embargoes are generally poor public policy."

The Percy-Dixon legislation is in response to the grain embargo against the Soviet Union ordered by Pres. Jimmy Carter in January 1980. The embargo, which was taken for both foreign policy and national security concerns, followed the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

Carter ordered the embargo under the Export Administration Act of 1979, which provides a 30-day Congressional disapproval mechanism for a grain embargo invoked for foreign policy reasons. However, the president also ordered the embargo for national security reasons, which does not provide for Congressional review.

The Percy-Dixon bill requires prior approval of Congress for a grain embargo ordered for foreign policy reasons, unless the embargo is part of an across-the-board cut on all exports to a particular country. The bill would prevent embargo of grain exports for national security reasons.

Percy and Dixon praised the patriotism of American farmers, and pointed to farmers' concern for the current law that allows restriction of their products but allows "business as usual" in the export of non-agricultural goods.

Pers. Ronald Reagan has not yet decided whether to continue the Carter embargo, and has broadened in scope to encompass friends, near and far, in addition to lovers and spouses.

"People find it easier to express themselves with cards, and Valentine's Day provides the ideal opportunity to break down the barriers of not showing emotions."

Local man with rescue crew

Navij Aviation Electronics Technician 2nd Class Andy L. Knott, son of Jefferson C. and Thelma M. Knott of Granite City, recently participated in a rescue at sea.

He was the crew chief of a search and rescue helicopter dispatched from Helicopter Combat Support Squadron 16, based at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

His helicopter was dispatched to rescue the crew of another squadron helicopter that had crashed in rough seas. The three survivors of the distressed helicopter grouped together and fired flares to aid the rescue helicopter in finding them.

When the survivors were spotted by the rescue helicopter, a swimmer was lowered into the water to provide aid to each survivor. The three were hoisted aboard the rescue craft and flown to a nearby Navy hospital.

A 1974 graduate of Granite City High School, Knott joined the Navy in January 1974.

Hebert said he did not wish to comment beyond what was contained in the letter. Partney said he had talked to Hebert about his reasons for resigning from the fire department and according to Partney, "Basically, I think he was fed up with the way everything was and had this in his mind for some time."

Know your health norms

(American Medical Association)

How do you know when you're sick?

Foolish question. We feel bad when we're sick.

But there are degrees of illness, all the way from minor discomfort to severe illness.

Knowing what some of the body's norms should be will help in determining when the body is seriously off pattern.

Individual temperatures vary. A slight fever in one person may not be a fever at all in another. Temperatures and pulse rates are different for children and adults.

The average normal temperature taken by mouth is 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit (37 degrees Centigrade).

Rectal temperature usually is one degree higher.

To find out what is normal for you, take your temperature when you know that you are not sick, at the same time of day, each day for several days.

If your temperature varies slightly from 98.6, write it down by your name on the family medical chart, and on the medical ID card in your wallet.

The average normal pulse rate for an adult at rest is 70 to 72 beats per minute.

The American Medical Association's Handbook of First Aid and Emergency Care points out that individual pulse rates vary, and can be either higher or lower than average.

To find your normal pulse, place the fingertips of one hand at your wrist just below the thumb on the palm side of your other hand, not the back.

Count the pulsations for 60 seconds. This is your pulse rate.

Be sure to do this when you are rested and quiet.

Pulse rates in children vary according to age. The average for a newborn infant is about 120 beats per minute.

A child's pulse rate can be anywhere from 60 to 90 beats per minute. The older child has a rate of 80.

Fever, nausea and headaches may or may not indicate something serious.

If any of these symptoms persists for several days, medical attention should be sought.

Drive Line shop opens here

The opening of the Drive Line Service shop at 18th Street and Madison Avenue in Granite City, was announced Friday. It is the 4th such shop in operation nationwide.

Drive Line Service of Greater St. Louis specializes exclusively in rebuilding, repair, and electronic balancing of drive shafts and constant velocity joints now in use on cars, trucks, and industrial equipment.

DLS of Greater St. Louis is part of Houser Automotive, both owned by W. C. "Bill" Houser. Ray Gansner is manager of the Drive Line Service shop.

Many of the highly specialized machines needed to accurately align and weld drive line components for long service have been purchased by Drive Line Service, whose independently-owned shops, serving both motorists and repair facilities, netted over $7 million in sales during 1980, a spokesman said.

The success of the Drive Line Service concept is due to our ability to offer prompt, original equipment repairs and modifications coupled with electronic shaft balancing for longer service life," Gansner added.

Two injuries occurred at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in a collision between the right rear of the auto of Dennis Langdon, 30, High Ridge, Mo., northbound on McCambridge Avenue in Madison, and the front of the car of Teresa Houck, 17, of 2024 McCasland Ave., westbound on Edwardsville Road and following the right wheel's turn to go south on McCambridge.

The front of the Langdon car next hit the left side of the pickup truck of George Gruenfelder, 2018 Fourth St., E. Madison, who was facing south and had halted for a McCambridge stop sign at the intersection.

Langdon was booked for continuing.

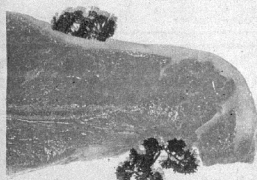

Langdon, 21, High Ridge, a passenger in the Langdon auto, and John Crenshaw, nine years old, 2024 McCasland, a passenger in the Houck car, were taken by ambulance for treatment of injuries at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Coast To Coast

Dolly Parton an easy target?

By DICK MAURICE

LAS VEGAS — With the murder of JOHN LENNON, is DOLLY PARTON worried about another CHAP-MAN?

It has been observed that big, blonde, and bejeweled Dolly Parton would make a poor candidate for espionage. But unfortunately, her hyper visibility, caused by fame and her originality, also carry liabilities. Like other entertainers, her stardom has made her a standout for snipers.

Though most of her fans are the kind of gentle, loving people Dolly celebrates in her songs, she gets a few "crazies" among her followers.

"Once there was a guy in Wheeling, W. Va.," recalls the Country Queen, "who called up saying that he was gonna shoot me on stage. I wasn't too scared that night but I had my family with me, my brothers and sisters who were working with me, and I wasn't gonna take a chance on somebody getting hurt so I just canceled and we all left."

"Eventually they traced it down, though, and the guy was sitting in the front row and it turned out he was one of my biggest fans. He had all my records and all he wanted was to see what kind of reaction he could get. He was a little warped, obviously, and since you're bound to run into this kind of thing from time to time, we keep ourselves protected."

"I've never really had that much trouble with drunks, though," she says thankfully. "I don't play clubs that often but I think by now most people know that I'm not really on the make."

"LORETTA LYNN often talks about guys yanking at her hair, trying to cut a hank, but that kind of thing has never happened to me. I'm just real friendly and I'll talk to people, to strangers even, the way I talk to my friends. I don't mind shaking their hand, and if they want to hug me I don't mind hugging them back."

"I'm not so foolish or gullible that I'm gonna get down there where somebody's gonna grab at me and jerk me down off the stage, but if you use a little sense there's no reason you've gotta have problems."

The ageless smoothie crooner, JOHNNY MATHIS,

DOLLY PARTON
...I'm just real friendly, and I'll talk to people.

JOHNNY MATHIS
...Peerless practitioner of professionalism.

never fails to bring his staunch legion of fans to their feet following his show at the Riviera Hotel. No wonder — after 24 years of performing, Johnny is a peerless practitioner of professionalism.

So it's very surprising to hear the mellow Mathis admit: "I get more than a slight case of the shakes when the curtain opens and I take the microphone. I can't seem to alleviate that sudden surge of adrenalin that envelops me."

But sunny Johnny has a very optimistic attitude toward his jitters.

"It may be positive in the long run because it sometimes gives me that surge of power and excitement every entertainer needs."

"I'm always happy when BARBRA STREISAND tells me she feels the way I do at almost every performance. But I would love to be nonchalant ... to be what everybody wants me to be — cool and comfortable."

During the past two years, JACK BARRY, host of television's "The Joker's Wild" game show, has probably spent more time in tailor shops than any other television personality.

He's been on the rigid Pritikin diet during that time and has seen his weight drop from nearly 200 pounds to about 135 pounds, then back up to the approximately 150 pounds he now weighs.

The result? With every loss or gain he's had to have his clothes altered.

Rock star ROD STEWART decided he would like to read what ex-girlfriend BRITT EKLAND had to say about him in her X-rated autobiography. So, at a London airport, he stole the book because as he put it, "Hell, she's writing about me. Why the hell should I pay for it?"

PHYLLIS DAVIS, who appears on the television show "Vegas", found out that being an actress isn't all that it's cracked up to be. While shooting the TV show, the director wanted her to jump out of a parked car. While the cameras were rolling she suffered a twisted ankle and Phyllis was forced into a wheelchair for the next two days of shooting.

Comedian REDD FOX, who's in the middle of a messy divorce, got some more bad news. CBS television is tired of waiting for the money they claim Foxx owes them. It seems the comic has forgotten to pay $26,400 that is due the network.

In 1978, CBS went to court and won their case against the entertainer. Foxx rented the network's facilities, but never paid. Then after the court battle, he only made $2,000 in installment payments. CBS is now looking for the rest.
